

Fact Sheet

Odinize App

Learn Anything.
Your Way.
Instantly.

Overview

Odinize is an AI-powered learning app that lets users create personalized courses on any topic, in any style, and at any depth.

Courses are generated instantly based on the user's preferences and can be read or listened to as podcasts with adjustable voices and speed.

An integrated AI instructor answers questions in real time, while a daily feed delivers tailored insights to keep users learning every day.

The community library allows users to explore and rate courses shared by others.

With full control over topics, tone, and content, Odinize makes learning as flexible and engaging as it should be.

About the Journey

My name is Remington, and I'm a professional software engineer and cloud architect.

I've always had a passion for learning—whether it's exploring new professions or picking up unique hobbies. Some interests are mainstream, others more niche, and often I'm drawn to dive deep into just specific aspects of a topic.

Take software development, for example. As an expert, I don't need another generic beginner tutorial. What I need is a course tailored to my level, designed to challenge me and help me grow further.

That's what sparked the idea for Odinize—an AI-powered tool built to deliver exactly the kind and depth of knowledge you're looking for.

Now, a year and countless AI-generated courses later, Odinize is ready. We're launching on July 1st, 2025, and I'm incredibly excited to see the community that will grow around it.

What drives Odinize

Our Philosophy

We believe that learning should be shaped by the learner. When people are free to define what they want to know and how they want to grow, education becomes not just effective—but empowering.

Our Mission

To make meaningful learning accessible to everyone by enabling truly personalized education—where anyone can explore what matters to them, in the way that suits them best.

Our Vision

A world where every person can learn freely, deeply, and independently—guided not by rigid systems, but by their own curiosity, pace, and purpose.

Thank you for your interest in

We set out to build something that puts curiosity and individuality at the center of learning—because we believe that’s where the future of education begins.

If our story resonates with you, we’d love your help in sharing it with the world.
